Anti-Bribery and Anti-Corruption Policy

Introduction

This anti-bribery policy exists to set out the responsibilities of Impact Arts and those who work for us in regards to observing and upholding our zero-tolerance position on bribery and corruption.

It also exists to act as a source of information and guidance for those working for Impact Arts. It helps them recognise and deal with bribery and corruption issues, as well as understanding their responsibilities.

Policy Statement

Impact Arts is committed to conducting business in an ethical and honest manner, and is committed to implementing and enforcing systems that ensure bribery is prevented. Impact Arts has a zero-tolerance for bribery and corrupt activities. We are committed to acting professionally, fairly and with integrity in all business dealings and relationships, wherever in the country we operate.

Impact Arts upholds all laws relating to anti-bribery and corruption in the UK including the Bribery Act 2010.

We recognise that bribery and corruption are punishable by up to 10 years imprisonment and a fine. If our company is discovered to have taken part in corrupt activities, we may be subjected to an unlimited fine, be excluded from tendering for public contracts, and face serious damage to our reputation. It is with this in mind that we commit to preventing bribery and corruption in our business, and take our legal responsibilities seriously.

Who is covered by the policy?

This anti-bribery policy applies to all employees, consultants, contractors, participants, volunteers, or any other person or persons associated with us (including third parties). The policy also applies to Trustees of the Board of Directors.

In the context of this policy, third party refers to any individual or organisation Impact Arts meets and works with. It refers to actual and potential clients, customers, suppliers, business contacts, agents, advisers, and government and public bodies – this includes their advisors, representatives and officials, politicians, and public parties.

Any arrangements Impact Arts makes with a third party is subject to clear contractual terms, including specific provisions that require the third party to comply with minimum standards and procedures relating to anti-bribery and corruption.

Definition of bribery

Bribery refers to the act of offering, giving, promising, asking, agreeing, receiving, accepting, or soliciting something of value or of an advantage so to induce or influence an action or decision.

A bribe refers to any inducement, reward, or object/item of value offered to another individual in order to gain commercial, contractual, regulatory, or personal advantage.

Bribery is not limited to the act of offering a bribe. If an individual is on the receiving end of a bribe and they accept it, they are also breaking the law.

Bribery is illegal. Employees must not engage in any form of bribery, whether it be directly, passively (as described above), or through a third party (such as an agent or distributor). They must not bribe a foreign public official anywhere in the world. They must not accept bribes in any degree and if they are uncertain about whether something is a bribe or a gift or act of hospitality, they must seek further advice from the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager.

Gifts and Hospitality

Impact Arts accepts normal and appropriate gestures of hospitality and goodwill (whether given to/received from third parties) so long as the giving or receiving of gifts meets the following requirements:

- a) It is not made with the intention of influencing the party to whom it is being given, to obtain or reward the retention of a business or business advantage, or as an explicit or implicit exchange for favours or benefits
- b) It is not made with the suggestion that a return favour is expected.
- c) It is in compliance with the law
- d) It is given in the name of the company, not in an individual's name.
- e) It does not include cash or a cash equivalent (e.g. a voucher or gift certificate).
- f) It is appropriate for the circumstances (e.g. giving small gifts around Christmas or as a small thank you to a company for helping with a large project upon completion).
- g) It is of an appropriate type and value and given at an appropriate time, taking into account the reason for the gift.
- h) It is given/received openly, not secretly.
- i) It is not selectively given to a key, influential person, clearly with the intention of directly influencing them.
- j) It is not above a certain excessive value, as pre determined by the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager (usually in excess of £100).
- k) It is not offered to, or accepted from, a government official or representative or politician or political party, without prior approval of the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager

As good practice, gifts given and received should always be disclosed to the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager. Gifts from suppliers should always be disclosed.

The intention behind a gift being given/received should always be considered. If there is any uncertainty, the advice of the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager should be sought.

Political Contributions

Impact Arts will not make donations, whether in cash, kind, or by any other means, to support any political parties or candidates. We recognise this may be perceived as an attempt to gain an improper business advantage.

Employee Responsibilities

As an employee of Impact Arts, you must ensure that you read, understand and comply with the information contained within this policy, and with any training or other anti-bribery and corruption information you are given.

All employees and those under our control are equally responsible for the prevention, detection, and reporting of bribery and other forms of corruption. They are required to avoid any activities that could lead to, or imply, a breach of this anti-bribery policy.

If you have reason to believe or suspect that an instance of bribery or corruption has occurred or will occur in the future that breaches this policy, you must notify the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager. If any employee breaches this policy, they will face disciplinary action and could face dismissal for gross misconduct. Impact Arts has the right to terminate a contractual relationship with an employee if they breach this anti-bribery policy.

How to raise a concern

If you suspect that there is an instance of bribery or corrupt activities occurring in relation to Impact Arts, you are encouraged to raise your concerns at as early a stage as possible. If you are uncertain about whether a certain action or behaviour can be considered bribery or corruption, you should speak to the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager.

Impact Arts has a whistleblowing procedure within its Public Interest Disclosure Policy and Procedure (“Whistleblowing”) for employees to follow so they can vocalise their concerns swiftly and confidentially.

What to do if you are a victim of bribery or corruption

You must tell the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager as soon as possible if you are offered a bribe by anyone, if you are asked to make one, if you suspect that you may have been bribed or asked to make a bribe in the near future, or if you have reason to believe that you are a victim of another corrupt activity.

Protection

If you refuse to accept or offer a bribe or you report a concern relating to potential act(s) of bribery or corruption, Impact Arts understands that you may feel worried about potential repercussions. Impact Arts will support anyone who raises concerns in good faith under this policy; even if an investigation finds that they were mistaken.

Impact Arts will ensure that no one suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of refusing to accept or offer a bribe or other corrupt activities or because they reported a concern relating to potential act(s) of bribery or corruption.

Detrimental treatment refers to dismissal, disciplinary action, or unfavourable treatment in relation to the concern the individual raised.

If you have reason to believe you've been subjected to unjust treatment as a result of a concern or refusal to accept a bribe, you should inform your line manager or the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager immediately.

Training and communication

Impact Arts will provide training on this policy as part of the induction process for all new employees. Employees will also receive regular, relevant training on how to adhere to this policy, and will be asked annually to formally accept that they will comply with this policy.

Impact Arts' anti-bribery and corruption policy and zero-tolerance attitude will be clearly communicated to all suppliers, contractors, business partners, and any third-parties at the outset of business relations, and as appropriate thereafter.

Impact Arts will provide relevant anti-bribery and corruption training to employees etc. where we feel their knowledge of how to comply with the Bribery Act needs to be enhanced. As good practice, all businesses should provide their employees with anti-bribery training where there is a potential risk of facing bribery or corruption during work activities.

Record keeping

Impact Arts will keep detailed and accurate financial records, and will have appropriate internal controls in place to act as evidence for all payments made. We will declare and keep a written record of the amount and reason for hospitality or gifts accepted and given, and understand that gifts and acts of hospitality are subject to managerial review.

Monitoring and reviewing

The Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager is responsible for monitoring the effectiveness of this policy and will review the implementation of it on an annual basis. They will assess its suitability, adequacy, and effectiveness.

Internal control systems and procedures designed to prevent bribery and corruption are subject to regular audits to ensure that they are effective in practice.

Any improvements needed will be applied as soon as possible. Employees are encouraged to offer their feedback on this policy if they have any suggestions for how it may be improved. Feedback of this nature should be addressed to the Head of Finance and Operations or Finance Manager.

Impact Arts may amend this policy at any time so to improve its effectiveness at combatting bribery and corruption.
